

Teaming With Our Community

2018 Agency of the Year

The Lancaster Recreation Commission was recognized by the Pennsylvania Recreation and Park Society (PRPS) with the prestigious Agency of the Year award at its 71st annual conference on March 29, 2018 at Kalahari Resort in the Pocono Mountains.

Lancaster Rec received the award in recognition of the agency's longstanding history as a recreation provider in Lancaster and for our work over the last five years to address income disparity in the field of youth sports through the Future Red Tornado Initiative. The Future Red Tornado Initiative brings together community partners with the goal of increasing the number of children in the City of Lancaster and Lancaster Township participating in youth sports and recreation programs.

Founded in 1935, the Pennsylvania Recreation and Park Society is the principal state organization promoting quality recreation and park training, networking, and leadership opportunities for those working and volunteering in the field. Members include professionals who manage municipal recreation and park systems and state parks, therapeutic recreation specialists at health care institutions, college and university professors and students, staff of privately-operated recreation facilities, and citizen members of recreation and park boards and commissions in communities across the Commonwealth. The organization selects a limited number of recipients for its annual awards. Lancaster Rec is honored to be recognized for its commitment to recreation in Lancaster.

Here's to the Future- a Message from John and Heather

In 2018, Lancaster Rec welcomed two new members to lead Lancaster Recreation Commission into the future and continue to build upon the solid foundation of our more than 100 years of history.

We were welcomed as the new Chairman of the Board and the new Executive Director for Lancaster Rec. It is both an honor and a privilege to serve the educational and recreation needs of our community. We are excited for the rewarding and challenging work ahead to serve our residents.

Over the past year, we welcomed back the long-awaited return of some of our favorite programs and events, including tackle football, Pooches in the Pool and our Fall Family Fun Fest. Lancaster Rec expanded some growing programs, such as our second grade swimming program, our Childcare Center at McCaskey High School and our Happy Hearts Club at Rodney Park Senior Center. Finally, we implemented some new programs and events like our Back to School Block Party, our Learn to Play Ukulele program for seniors and Geri-Fit.

We also looked ahead for the future of Lancaster Rec. Nearing our 110th birthday, we consider what more can our agency do for the Lancaster we love. We've taken part in strategic planning to create a five-year plan for 2019 -2024 that we can't wait to share with you. Our strategic plan will focus on organizational sustainability, expanding community partnerships and strengthening and growing our programs to better serve our community.

Sincerely,

John Carpenter, Jr.

Heather Dighe

Free Fun Family Events

Open Streets Lancaster

In May 2018, Lancaster Rec hosted the 5th annual Open Streets Lancaster event to celebrate our city and drew more than 7,000 attendees. Open Streets Lancaster is a free, unique event that closes down a Lancaster city street to vehicle traffic to make way for people traffic. For one day, the streets are open to encourage physical activity, unite our community, meet our neighbors and support our local businesses. Nearly a mile of city streets were closed and filled with face painting, firetrucks, magicians, musicians, community service agencies, people, pets and fun!

Back to School Block Party

As the long summer days came to an end, Lancaster Rec held a free Back to School Block Party in Brandon Park to say goodbye to summer vacation and welcome the new school year. The block party was part of an initiative coordinated by the City of Lancaster's Mayor's Office to award funding for local block parties in Lancaster. Lancaster Rec hosted one dozen local community organizations, a bounce house, music and games and provided free hot dogs, chips and drinks to more than 300 children and families in the neighborhood.

Pooches in the Pool

After the Conestoga Pines Pool closed for the season on Labor Day weekend, we welcomed man's best friend for a swim. Our Pooches in the Pool event returned this year to welcome dogs and their owners for a free, fun-filled afternoon of swimming and splashing at the end of the dog days of summer.

Fall Family Fun Fest

The Fall Family Fun Fest returned in October at Conestoga Pines Barn, reimagined into a new event to delight families on an autumn evening. The event included live music, screen printed art projects, a large open fire for making s'mores, environmental education activities, healthy snacks, storytelling and an old-fashioned hayride pulled by a tractor through the woods. More than 400 people enjoyed a beautiful evening of fall fun with their families.

Candy Cane Hunt

On a brisk December evening, candy canes were scattered across Musser Park in anticipation for the annual Candy Cane Hunt event. More than 200 children made goodie bags to collect their sweet treats and played holiday themed games while a live band entertained the crowd with favorite holiday music. After the event, children and families enjoyed hot chocolate and cookies and visited with Santa Claus and Frosty the Snowman.

The Future Red Tornado Initiative

The Return of Jr. Tornado Football

In 2018, Lancaster Rec welcomed youth tackle football to our roster of programs. The return of youth tackle football in Lancaster created quite a buzz and ended the inaugural first season with the Jr. Tornado Football B Squad earning a spot in the playoffs during the comeback season.

The football program for the School District of Lancaster was started more than 40 years ago by the Conestoga Sertoma Club with a dedicated group of volunteers. Those volunteers continued the program for many years and in 2016, looked to Lancaster Rec to help continue youth football in Lancaster.

The addition of the football league to the Lancaster Rec's programs was a natural fit. Lancaster Rec has committed to increasing the number of children participating in youth sports through the Future Red Tornado Initiative. The Future Red Tornado Initiative is a concentrated initiative, partnering with the School District of Lancaster, to provide children with more opportunities and greater access to youth sports programs.

The Jr. Tornado Football program has helped drive towards that goal, with more than 80 children participating in the first season. Practices began in August with teams on the B, C and D squads for ages 7 through 12.

The Jr. Tornado tackle football program places an emphasis on learning, playing and enjoying the sport of football safely, while fostering sportsmanship, teamwork and self-discipline. An extremely dedicated group of volunteer coaches and staff, many of who came up through the program, ensured that the season ended in success. The community spirit, new energy and direction of the program was highlighted at our end of the season banquet that was attended by approximately 250 parents, guardians, coaches, players and cheerleaders.

Lancaster Rec looks forward to continuing to grow Jr. Tornado Football for the future of gridiron greats in Lancaster.

Run for Fun - Run For Fitness

Lancaster Rec, in partnership with McCaskey Athletics Cross County coaches and team, hosted our second Elementary Run for Fitness in September at McCaskey High School Football Field Stadium. Students in kindergarten through 6th grade participated in the races ranging from 1/4 to 1/2 mile. Approximately 200 people, including participants, spectators, McCaskey athlete volunteers and our Jr. Tornado cheerleaders supported the 35 youth runners. Top finishers qualified for the Cross Country Run for Fitness County Championship in October.

The Run for Fitness shines a light on distance running for youth. More than 10 school districts in Lancaster County host a local event with hundreds of children having the chance to become exposed to running and experience a race. Running can offer children a sense of empowerment and achievement when they finish the race. Our hope is that by providing the opportunity to youth in our community will develop a desire to get involved in this lifetime sport and enjoy all the health benefits of running.

Extra-ordinary Extracurriculars

Swimming for Second Grade Students

Once a week, second grade students from select elementary schools in the School District of Lancaster headed to the pool to learn vital, life-saving skills while learning to swim.

Lancaster Family YMCA and Lancaster Recreation Commission have worked alongside School District of Lancaster staff members to provide free swimming lessons through a special second grade swimming program during the school day.

The program provided 45 minute safety around water instruction and swim lessons to second grade students once a week for eight weeks and utilized both the YMCA aquatics center, as well as the pools under operation through the School District of Lancaster.

The program, started in 2016, piloted at Wickersham Elementary and moved to three schools in 2017-18. In 2018-19, five schools will receive swim lessons for all second grade students in the elementary school, reaching approximately 340 students in the School District of Lancaster.

Inner City, Inner Peace

Lancaster Rec came together with a local wellness organization to bring a special type of recreation program to a group of promising new Yogis.

AIM to Empower, a non-profit organization with a mission to create connection and opportunity through the practice of yoga, partnered with Lancaster Rec to break down barriers of fear, create unity and instill empowerment in youth through our new after school program.

Over the course of 40 weeks during the 2018-19 school year, children in Lancaster Rec's 12 after school programs met with yoga instructors, coordinated by AIM to Empower, for an hour to practice yoga. The program focused on building lifelong skills that enable children in Lancaster to relax and find an inner place of calm, even in the midst of chaos.

Yoga helps address issues that many children face - including anxiety, overstimulation, obesity and negative self-image. The program offers a safe, non-competitive space for children to learn. Children focus on staying present, using meditative breathing to reduce stress, practicing self-awareness and balance. All of these skills benefit children and can improve discipline, improve mood and positively influence the culture of the group.

Lancaster Rec Shining Stars

Arisellie Cupules: Arisellie is the latest staff member who achieved her School Age Care Credential. Arisellie shares "I am a 33 years old single parent of two children. I currently working fulltime for SDOL, part-time for Lancaster Recreation Center and also attend college part-time. I have gained plenty of experience working with children in the past through church, summer camps, and volunteering at my children's school. I began my journey with volunteering part-time for the School District of Lancaster where my children attend school before becoming an employee and working part-time for the Lancaster Recreation Commission. I have learned a lot over the last 4 years working with children and I enjoy all the experiences that I have been blessed to be a part of in my life."

Lancaster Rec Role Models

From children attending our Before and After School programs to counselors in the same program, Trevon Morant and Tarrus Gant understand the value in our Before and After School programs. They see how important it is to provide a safe place to go to while making lasting memories that they can carry with them into adulthood.

Trevon Morant: Some of Trevon's favorite memories include playing basketball with staff, playing kickball with his friends and having a place to go to after school. After Trevon graduated, he attended college at Thaddeus Stevens where he received an Associate's degree in Business. While Trevon was attending college, he began to work at our Before and After School Program, working in the summers as a camp counselor.

"Before and After School was fun for me because I remember going there when I was in elementary school. I was able to teach the kids some of the games that we used to play as kids that kids today didn't seem to play anymore. It is fun because I can see myself in the program again as a child building relationships with the counselors that I am able to do with them."

Trevon continues to work at Lancaster Rec while studying Sports Business with a minor in Athletic Coaching at Millersville University and will graduate in 2019. "It's crazy to think that everything has come full circle for me and I'm very thankful for everything that the Rec has done for me."

Tarrus Gant: Tarrus attended the Before and After School program from kindergarten through sixth grade. Tarrus has fond memories of the program and the fun field trips that he used to go on while attending one of our summer camp programs. "I remember going to Hershey Park as a kid and how much fun that was!" Tarrus can remember some of the science activities that they did in after school and his favorite part of the day was playing outside. "It's important to give the kids that time that they can just run around outside and be kids while they can".

While attending Millersville University, he continues to be part of the before and after school program as a counselor and continues to work during the summer as a counselor at Discovery Day Camp. "I enjoy coming back to the kids school year after school year and summer after summer. I know what it was like to be in the program as a child and I think that gives me an advantage to working as a counselor in the program. A lot of the program has stayed the same after all of these years which is great because it shows how consistent the program remains. Where else can you get paid to be a kid again?"

Programs to Bring Joy to Seniors

Learning to Play

Thanks to a grant from Music for Everyone and volunteers from the group Ukulele Uprising, seniors at the Lancaster Rec Senior Center are getting in the rhythm and learning to play the ukulele.

The grant awarded Lancaster Rec 10 ukuleles, tuners and instruction materials for lessons. Volunteers have provided weekly lessons for more than a dozen seniors ready to learn. More than half of the seniors were not members of the senior center, but have joined the community after hearing about the program. Two of the senior participants have advanced their skills enough to be able to volunteer as assistant instructors and facilitate a second instructional session weekly to provide individual attention and extra weekly practice sessions for other senior center members.

Special adaptations have been made to help members with limited dexterity and flexibility, as well as members with vision impairments, memory or literacy issues. This means senior center members with a desire to learn can learn to play while limiting frustration and increasing joy.

In May, the Lancaster Barnstormers baseball team invited Lancaster Rec Senior Ukulele Players and Lancaster Ukulele Uprising volunteers to play at Clipper Stadium for their Senior Day Home Game Day. Thousands of seniors from all over Lancaster County attended the game where the players had an opportunity to perform. The Barnstormers have invited the group back for the 2019 Senior Day to be held on May 23, 2019.

Staying Fit and Having Fun

In 2018, Lancaster Rec introduced, Geri-Fit®, an evidence-based health promotion program and chronic disease self-management support program. Designed exclusively for older adults, this exercise program helps rebuild strength that's been lost through the aging process to help ensure a higher level of function. Geri-Fit is an ideal ongoing evidence-based self-management support program for chronic disease management, such as, pre-diabetes and type 2 diabetes, heart disease, arthritis, behavioral health, obesity, as well as chronic pain management. Older adults also see an improvement in balance and functional capacity which will help lessen their chance of falls. Most participants experience decreased anxiety and depression within just a few weeks of starting the program.

The workout is considered a "progressive resistance exercise program" meaning that once the participants have built up enough strength and endurance using a set of 1 or 2-pound dumbbells, they can graduate to using heavier dumbbells in order to become even stronger. The Geri-Fit physical activity program also incorporates stretching and range of motion exercises, stability and balance training for fall prevention, cardiovascular activity for heart health, and gait exercises to help improve walking.

Lancaster Rec Senior Center offers the Geri-fit program twice a week from September through early June. A certified and experienced instructor leads the class and weights, stretch bands, sturdy chairs and water bottles are provided for each class.

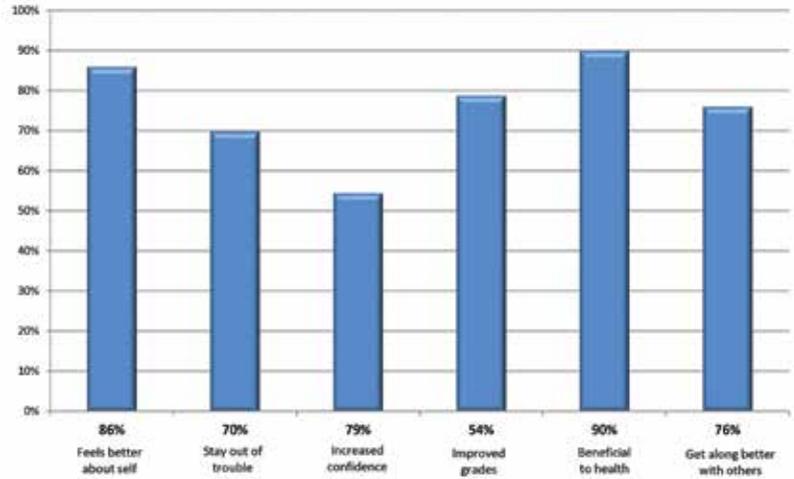

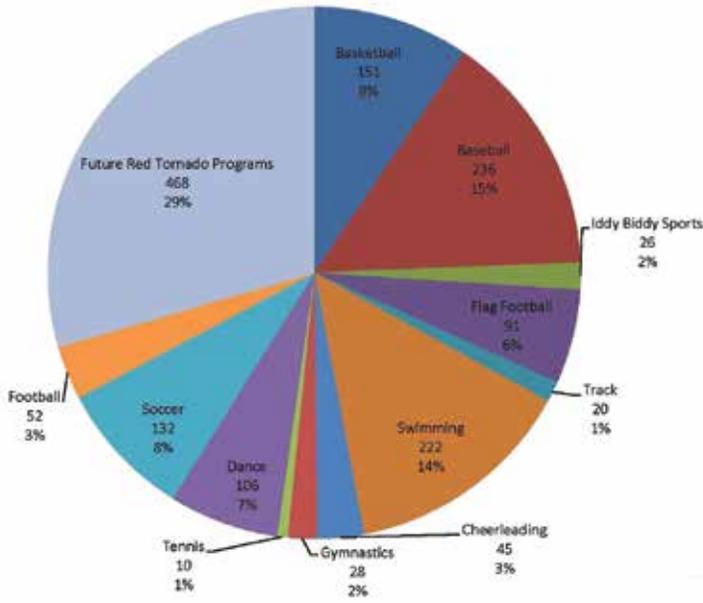

This program is recognized by the Administration on Aging (AoA) and the Administration for Community Living (ACL), a division of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services at meeting the highest criteria. This program is provided by the Lancaster County Department of Aging.

COMMUNITY IMPACT WITH PARTNERS IN LANCASTER

Lancaster Rec partners with our community to make life better for City of Lancaster and Lancaster Township residents.

Lancaster Young Professionals - Stuff the Sleigh: Lancaster Young Professionals, a non-profit community service organization for ages 21+, raised more than $7,000 through their annual Stuff the Sleigh campaign to benefit children in Lancaster Rec's childcare program. Stuff the Sleigh is a fundraiser that raises money for a holiday shopping spree at a local retailer for toys, winter clothing items and educational materials for children. LYP members helped to distribute the gifts. Michael Heller, LYP Vice President said, "The reward is in the service. The impact the Lancaster Rec makes on our community's youth is immeasurable. All of the kids were so appreciative."

LOOP and Creative Reuse: Lancaster City Office of Promotion (LOOP), in collaboration with Lancaster Creative Reuse, helped children and seniors at Lancaster Rec get into the holiday spirit by providing the opportunity to decorate the Mayor's Holiday Tree. Lancaster Creative Reuse provided all of the decorating supplies and LOOP provided the ornaments for the tree in downtown Lancaster. Lancaster Rec staff and volunteers attended the Mayor's Tree Lighting Ceremony.

United Way - Day of Caring: Lancaster Rec participated in United Way of Lancaster County's annual Day of Caring and invited more than 50 volunteers from local businesses to help beautify Lancaster Rec's community spaces. Volunteers helped to paint the fencing at Conestoga Pine Pool, paint interior walls at Rodney Park Community Center, plant flowers at our Senior Center and pick up trash at Brandon Park.

Tellus360 and the Great Giving Gig : In celebration of the Extraordinary Give, Tellus 360 hosted the Groovy Giving Gig: Peace, Love, and Giving to elevate the Lancaster community and many of its non-profit organizations, including Lancaster Rec.

The event included a live broadcast of WITF's Smart Talk, giving stations for individuals to make donations, music and entertainment. Lancaster Rec orchestrated The Groovy Game Show, a 70's themed trivia game show where local businesses and nonprofits were paired in teams to compete.

The event is hosted in partnership by the following non-profit organizations:

Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay, CASA of Lancaster County, Children's Dyslexia Center of Lancaster, CWS - Lancaster Immigration & Refugee Program, Clare House, Help The Fight!, Lancaster Creative Factory, Lancaster Public Library, Lancaster Recreation Commission, LEADS, Making Lancaster Beautiful Every Season, Music For Everyone, Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen, Raven Ridge Wildlife Center, and WITF.
